

Your privacy rights when you've been given access to a Nest account

The purpose of this document is to inform you about the type of information we hold about you, how we use it and to let you know your rights. The National Employment Savings Trust (Nest) Corporation exercises control over the processing of the data we hold about you and carries the data protection responsibility for it. In legal terms this is referred to as being the 'data controller'.

About your personal information and where we obtain it*

We received your details when you were added as a delegate to a member's Nest account. The member provided these details to us and their details are outlined in the email that was sent to you to activate your account.

We need your personal information to administer your account. This allows us to identify you as someone who is permitted to access their account.

How we'll use your personal information*

We'll use this information to manage your Nest account, in accordance with our legal obligations under the Nest Order and Rules. We can use this to:

- › manage the Nest account of the member who added you as a delegate, in accordance with our legal obligations under the Nest Order and Rules.
- › provide services and information you request from us in relation to the member's account
- › improve our service offering, including through surveys and research activities
- › see if and when you open the secure messages, emails or links we send you.

We may use your personal details to provide you with other information you've consented to receive. You can withdraw your consent at any time. We explain how* at the time you give consent.

If you use our website, we may also use your personal information to monitor the traffic and performance of our website in accordance with our cookies policy. If you'd like to change your cookie settings, go to our cookies policy page at www.nestpensions.org.uk/cookiepolicy.
